

Title of the study programme:	Intermediate Literature Studies
State code of the study programme:	621Q20004
Study cycle:	Second Cycle studies
Type of the study programme:	Master studies
Study area:	Humanities
Group of study fields:	Philology
Study field (code):	Literarology (Q200)
Qualification degree awarded:	Master in Literarology
Mode of studies:	Full-time
Length of the study programme (in years):	2
Study programme volume in credits:	120
Total student's workload (in hours):	2000
Contact hours:	848
Self-study hours:	1152
Language(s) of instruction:	Lithuanian
Aim of the study programme:	The main aim of the study programme is to train highly qualified literature and culture specialists, able to perceive modern theories and processes of art, to conceptualize the importance of contemporary literature and art technologies in the modern society, to suite the standards of specialists in European and world literature, culture and art.
Study programme learning outcomes:	The graduates will be able to define the theoretical concept of modern culture created by the literature, other arts and modern technologies; to compare principles and technical options of interaction between literature and other arts in modern media; to analyze possible changes of literary text; to create systematic attitude towards literary text, as well as other art and different cultural discourses based on cultural theory; to identify boundaries of literature, art, cultural canons and genres, authorial and authentic school paradigms, communication of different genres and cultures; to improve their professional skills and knowledge.
Assessment methods:	The main form of evaluation is an examination. However, courses units may be evaluated by the pass/fail evaluation as well. Every course unit is concluded with either a written or written-oral examination or pass/fail evaluation. Student's knowledge and general performance during the exam are evaluated using grading scale from 1(very poor) to 10(excellent), or by pass or fail evaluation in the cases when pass/fail evaluation is foreseen as a final evaluation of the course unit.
Graduation thesis or/and final examinations:	On satisfactory completion of the studies a Master's thesis is defended. After a successful defence the student is awarded the qualification degree of Master in Literarology.
Access to further studies:	Graduates from the Master's degree study programme are eligible for further Doctoral studies in Philology or any other field of Humanities.
Employability:	The graduates may be employed as critical analysts of literature and art, as editors, publishers, public relations specialists or department consultant in the state media, cultural and scientific institutions, as well as in non-governmental and private organizations.
Chair of the study Programme Committee:	Dr. Audinga Tikuišienė